GOOD WORK IS ALREADY SHOWN

Principal of Town Schools Says that Good Work of Parent Teachers' Association is already shown Monthly Meeting.

That the Parent Teachers' Association organized within the past few months is already doing much to better the local schools was indicated at Friday evening's meeting when Prof. Burgoon stated that in at least two ways the schools had improved since the formation of the organization.

"The scholars are doing more work at home since the beginning of the year", he said, "and are doing more of it this year than they did last. Another encouraging feature is the fact that teachers are no longer confronted with the refusal of parents to give written excuses stating the reasons for the absence of their children from school."

Another indication of the good work being done was the report of the visiting committee who told of two children, who stayed away from school for various reasons being returned through the work of that committee. It was generally agreed that the association could not help but advance materially conditions in the Gettysburg schools and the interest being taken in it was shown by the addition of a large number of new names to the roll.

Prof. Calvin Hamilton reported on the playgrounds committee that an effort had been made to learn the equipment needed but that was it found that the ground should be secured first and the equipment matter would almost solve itself.

The entertainment part of the program consisted of a solo by Rex Gilbert, a recitation by Harold Mumper, a song by scholars of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades, a German school scene by pupils of the High School, a violin solo by Nellie Kelly; and a solo by Mrs. Roy E. Zinn. Special mention is deserved by the scholars who took part in the German school scene, the conversation being carried on fluently in German and indicating the valuable work being done in that branch of the High School studies.

Two addresses were made during the evening, one by Dr. T. C. Billheimer who told of ways in which the home can help the school and by Superintendent Lose of the Williamsport schools who told of his experience with similar organizations in his city, claiming that they had been of inestimable value.

PRIMARY MAY BE CHANGED

There is much speculation among politicians in Adams county over the proposed enactment of laws by the state legislature in session at Harrisburg to conform with the constitutional amendments authorized to be made by the electors of the commonwealth.

Aspirants for the nominations to be made by the several political parties are at sea because there are rumors that the spring primaries scheduled to be held Saturday June 3, may be changed to early fall and the probability of the terms of the incumbents in county and city offices being extended to 1913.

LINE TO BE ABSORBED

The announcement is made that the Western Maryland Railroad Company will take over the Frederick Railroad.

Surveys were made last winter through the Middletown Valley and it is generally believed the work was for a low grade coal line for the Western Maryland. That $1,500,000 has been put into the merger of trolley and gas companies at Frederick has been done by outside help.

The Frederick road has a traffic arrangement with the Western Maryland now to handle business by way of Thurmont, where the steam line is being changed to electric for passenger business. A connection at Brunswick with the Baltimore and Ohio, by way of the trolley to Jefferson, is contemplated.

Five hundred thousand dollars will be spent on terminals.

TWO SERIOUSLY HURT

A serious accident occurred Thursday, at the infirmary of the White Pine sanatorium. A scaffold that had been erected, fifteen feet high, on the extension that is being put up gave way, precipitating two of the work men to the ground. Both legs of Samuel Carbaugh and several of his ribs were fractured, while Daniel Bailey received a fracture of the skull.

Both men were given medical treatment and taken to their homes. They are in a precarious condition.

It is not known what caused the scaffold to break as it was well nailed and not much weight was upon it except the two men.

HOME AND WELL

Jacob Staley, who was bitten by a mad dog, some time ago, near the White Pine sanatorium, and who was in Lancaster taking the Pasteur treatment, returned home Thursday having been discharged from the institution as cured. Mr. Staley, while somewhat weak, stood the treatment very well.

VOTED AGAINST THE NEW CODE

Adams County School Directors in Last Session of Annual Convention Cast their Ballot against the Enactment of New Measure.

Adams County's school directors cast their vote against the proposed new school code at the last session of their twentieth annual convention which was held in the Court House Friday afternoon.

The proposed code was thoroughly discussed by well known educators during the week and the interest taken by the directors was carried beyond the convention where many arguments for and against the measure were talked over.

The principal objections expressed were against the eight months' school term and the holding of the office of treasurer by one not a school director.

It is claimed by the directors in a number of the districts that more than seven months is too much for the children in some of the county towns and townships. Objections are offered to taking the office of treasurer away from the membership of the board.

Other faults were found with the proposed code but these two were the only ones to which public expression was given.

When the committee presented the report favoring the entire code the majority voted against it and no opportunity being given for an expression on the measure with certain parts eliminated, Adams County goes on record as being opposed to the code.

The other usual resolutions were passed thanking all who took part in the convention and commending the officers for the manner in which it was conducted.

Superintendent Lose, head of the Williamsport public schools, made the address of the afternoon and the convention adjourned in time for all the directors to take the afternoon trains for their homes.

NEW MONUMENT?

An Associated Press dispatch under date of February 10 from Philadelphia says:

"In today's mail Archbishop Ryan, who is seriously ill from heart trouble, received an invitation from the Philadelphia Brigade Association to be the orator at the dedication on the Gettysburg battlefield next September of the monument erected in memory of the Philadelphia Brigade who fell on that battlefield."

At the office of the Gettysburg National Park Commission nothing is known of the proposed monument.

What is probably referred to is a reunion of Pennsylvania veterans to be held at Gettysburg and Antietam next September.

VICTORY FOR COUNTY QUAKERS

Adjudged not Disloyal to Union during Civil War. Quakers, Dunkards and Mennonites of this and other Counties Affected.

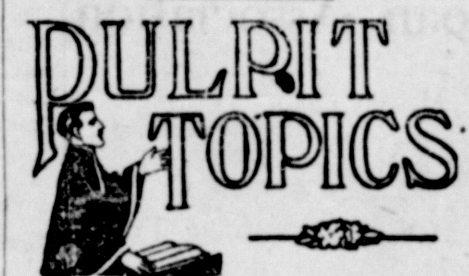

A notable victory for the Quakers, Dunkards and Mennonites of Adams, York and Franklin counties was won in Congress by Representative Butler when he had stricken from the law language which on its face classed them as disloyal to the Union during the Civil War.

By a vote of 165 to 75 the House dropped from the bill to codify, revise and amend the laws relative to the judiciary this language:

"And the voluntary residence of any such person in any place, where at any time during such residence the rebel force or organization held sway shall be prima facie evidence that such person did give aid and comfort to said rebellion and to the persons engaged therein."

"This language should be offensive to the Quakers, the Dunkards and the Mennonites of Pennsylvania," said Mr. Butler. "These people during the Civil War lived in peace in the valleys of York, Adams and Franklin counties. Many of them did not esteem it necessary to bear arms in defense of our Union to manifest their allegiance to it neither did they regard a noise as an evidence of their loyalty, neither did they deem it necessary in order to preserve their constancy to their government that they should commit acts of hostility."

The provision occurred in the chapters relating to rules of evidence before the Court of Claims. These rules require that any person prosecuting a claim growing out of the Civil War shall prove his loyalty to the Union.

OVER $20,000 WORTH OF JEWELRY STOLEN

Taken From Home of C. G. Roebbling in Trenton.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 11.—An inventory of the articles stolen from the residence of Charles G. Roebbling last Wednesday night indicates that the burglar made a haul representing between $20,000 and $25,000 in intrinsic value.

Among the articles taken were a number of valuables which money cannot replace. Among these was a large set with diamonds and pearls, which was a gift from the late Mrs. Washington R. Roebbling to Mrs. Cornelius Hook, sister-in-law of Charles G. Roebbling. The large set was exhibited at the Paris exposition, where it was awarded first prize.

The robbery, one of the largest ever accomplished in this vicinity, has been placed in the hands of Pinkerton detectives for investigation. It is now the accepted theory of the detectives that it was accomplished by some one having inside knowledge as to both the house and the customary movements of the family.

GHOULS DIDN'T STEAL BODY

Mrs. McCollum's Remains Found in Mausoleum.

COSTLY METALS THEIR LOOT

Milkman Tells of Meeting Man Who Heard Hammering and Saw Raiders Leave Cemetery.

Erie, Pa., Feb. 11.—A careful search of the Scott mausoleum in the Erie cemetery showed that the body of Mrs. Anna M. McCollum had not been stolen. In one of the twenty-four compartments the body was found.

It is now believed the robbery of the mausoleum was perpetrated for the sole purpose of obtaining costly metals on some of the caskets.

After forty-eight hours of fruitless work on the case the police found a clue that may aid them to track the grave robbing band that broke into the magnificent mausoleum of the Scott family in Erie cemetery.

Louis Wadlinger, a milk dealer, has informed the police that at about four o'clock on the morning of Jan. 27 his wagon was stopped near the cemetery by a man who asked him for a match. Wadlinger says the man told him he had heard hammering in the cemetery and later saw four men emerge through a hole in the cemetery fence. On account of the reticence of the police and members of the family, much mystery surrounds the desecration of the mausoleum.

Until now it was believed that the police and the family were not in accord in regard to the method to be pursued in the search for clues to the ghoul.

In regard to this a high official of the police department, who refused to permit the use of his name, said:

"The influential families involved in this ghoul case are doing all they can to keep from the police many facts. I know that an attempt was made to steal the body of William L. Scott, but the leaden outside envelope of his coffin was so securely cemented and soldered in the crypt that it would have taken days to remove it. I believe there is more in this than body snatching."

The police found a hole in the cemetery fence about 500 feet from the vault. This corroborates the tale of Wadlinger.

An investigation of the vault has shown conclusively that the ghoul was familiar with the work undertaken. When the copper plates in front of the crypts were torn away a sharp hooked instrument was run into the crypt and the name plates pulled from the caskets.

COST OF LIVING

Pennsylvania Legislature May Demand Revision.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 11.—A resolution demanding that congress, through revision of the tariff, give relief to the people from the present high cost of living, will be presented to the legislature on Monday night by Representative M. P. Shannon, Democrat, of Wilkes-Barre. The resolution also indorses the proposed reciprocity agreement with Canada.

The preamble sets forth that the high cost of living has become a burden and that the recent elections show that the people have become stirred by the injustice of the existing tariff schedules and that they demand immediate relief.

The resolution is in the form of an appeal to the president and congress to take steps that will bring about a reduction on the home necessities. The lieutenant governor and speaker of the house are instructed to send copies of the resolution to the president and both houses of congress.

SAYS TEACHER KILLED BOY

Father Alleges Lad Died as Result of Severe Whipping.

Waterloo, Ia., Feb. 11.—A civil suit asking $2000 damages was filed here against J. L. Breniser, school teacher, by A. E. Canfield, who charges that his twelve-year-old son, Samuel Canfield, died on Jan. 8 as a result of a severe whipping administered a month before by the instructor.

The complaint on which the suit is based charges that Breniser beat the boy with his fists, kicked him and then beat him with a broomstick. One bruise, said the father, covered the entire side of the boy's head. Breniser is a young farmer of Blackhawk county, who has been teaching near Dunkerton.

Handsome Young Woman Said to Be Guest of Artist.

Middletown, N. Y., Feb. 11.—If Ferdinand Pinney Earle, the artist, who holds a record of three affinities in three years, has assimilated a fourth, he doesn't want any one to know it.

The artist is at his home, about a mile from Monroe, and unless the people of the village, who keep a rather sharp lookout for something new from Earle Hall, are mistaken, he has as a guest a very handsome young woman.

Earle alighted from a train from New York Wednesday evening, accompanied by a handsome young woman. His driver was at the station, and the artist and young woman were whirled away before the villagers could get a good look at the woman. Immediately tongues began to wag and soon it was asserted that the fourth affinity had arrived at Monroe.

Neither Mr. Earle nor his guest have been seen in the village since they arrived Wednesday night, and the word at Earle Hall is that the artist cannot see any one. Friends of Earle, however, say there is no fourth affinity and that Earle's guest is a friend who is assisting him in putting the finishing touches to his volume of poems.

Its Always Bad

The Best of Backs Are Bad When They Ache, and Gettysburg People Know It. A bad back is always bad. Bad at night when bedtime comes, just as bad in the morning. Ever try Doan's Kidney Pills for it? Know they are for backache or for other kidney ills? If you don't, some Gettysburg people do. Read a case of it: John J. Tawney, 231 Baltimore St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I hold Doan's Kidney Pills in high esteem and always have a box in the house to use in case of need. I suffered from kidney complaint. My back ached constantly and often in the morning I was so stiff and lame that I could hardly get out of bed. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and caused me no end of annoyance. Being advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I did so, getting them from the People's Drug Store and I was surprised by their promptness in relieving me. My health improved greatly and I now have no cause for complaint. Two years ago a member of my family publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills in my behalf and at this time I can confirm that statement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Many Women Now Doing Without False Hair. Rats and other false paraphernalia for the upbuilding of woman's thinned out hair may be necessary, but the sight is far from pleasing.

With care nature can supply to most women all the hair necessary for attractive dressing.

Many thousands of women, refined and educated, have learned that it is not hard to have, and to keep an abundance of lustrous hair, if Parisian Sage the hair grower is used daily.

Since its introduction into America, Parisian Sage has become a prime favorite with women who desire luxuriant hair that will not fall out or turn gray, used daily it will keep the scalp immaculately clean, will stop itching and falling hair, and remove every particle of dandruff.

It causes the hair to grow because it is able to penetrate into the roots, where it besides nourishing the hair, detroys the dandruff germs. The People's Drug Store and druggists everywhere guarantee Parisian Sage to do exactly as advertised, or money back. A large bottle only costs 50 cents, and it is a most invigorating and refreshing hair dressing. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package.

THE TURK AND HIS HAREM

Wild turkeys separate in the fall and choose new affinities in February, nature's tip to you not to mate parent and offspring, brother and sister, but to head your pen with a strong unrelated gobbler each season. Tame turkeys do not fully mature in a year, a hint that breeders should be two or more years old, one to ten to eight hens, all vigorous and as evenly matched in size, shape and color as possible.

Start with stock rather than eggs. With stock you know ancestry, eggs are fresh, and Mother Turkey does the hatching, brooding, rearing, a surer way to success than with the lousy cluck.

As to breed, let your fancy, location and market requirements decide that. Bronze is most popular, White Holland next. Bronze is largest and does best on wide range; Holland is more domestic and may be reared on more limited area.

Buy in the fall. Birds are cheapest and, right off range, are not fat, so det amental to success, and thus through winter you may keep them normal by judiciously feeding a grain ration of equal parts wheat, oats, barley and corn. Wheat is standard for old turkeys; much corn brings fat, infertility, liver trouble and weak poult.

Waste apples, cabbage and sprouted oats are good greens; good beef scrap and fresh cut bone substitute for grasshoppers and clover, or alfalfa steamed and mixed with bran and mids is excellent. Grit, shell, charcoal, fresh water are necessities.

In selection note vigor, size, shape, color. Size does not always mean weight. Two tons may weigh the same, but vastly differ. One may be big bone and muscle and later develop into a giant; the other may be small boned and fatty, grow no larger and beget squatty, feeble offspring.

The turkeys in the picture are model mates. The male is large in frame, body long and deep, neck and tail long and graceful, back broad and descends in graceful curve to fall; breast full and broad, wings large and strong; head, caruncles, feet, thighs large; shanks thick, long, straight and well feathered.

The hen is a perfect mate, of course, being more refined.

The gobbler weighs forty pounds and the hen twenty-three, just four and three pounds respectively above Bronze standard weight.

Wrong End of the Milk.

One morning while trade was slack and he had settled himself in the store chair for a few minutes a north side grocer was interrupted by the entering of a very small daughter of Africa, who, bracing herself in the middle of the store, said, "Mam wants some scum milk," whereupon she received the asked for amount of skimmed milk.

The grocer had just settled himself for another rest when he was again interrupted by that selfsame bottle of ink: "Mam don't want this. She want that what's scummed off the top,"—Indianapolis News.

LOST IN THE CATACOMBS

By GROVER J. GRIFFIN

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

When I was a boy reading stories of Rome in connection with my studies the great desire of my life was to visit the Eternal City and the localities at which the incidents I read about occurred. I wished to go over the seven hills on which the city had been built; I wished to see the Forum, the home of the vestal virgins, the spot where Castor and Pollux appeared, marked now by the ruins of their temple; I wished to see the Coliseum, the triumphal arches, the Pantheon. Above all, I desired to go down into the catacombs where the early Christians secretly deposited their dead.

The time finally came when I reached the object of my desires. I visited Rome. On the steamer crossing the Atlantic and later steaming over the Mediterranean I met Marian Chambers, and, sitting on deck moonlight nights with her, I caught from her a fever—the fever of love. By the time we reached Gibraltar I was down, and during the whole voyage from there to Naples I was very ill with this irritating disease. I was cured on the homeopathic principle that like cures like. The love of the girl given in gradually increased doses put me in a normal condition.

By the time we reached Rome I was ready to enjoy the sights I had counted on seeing ever since I began to study Latin. And now I had a loved companion to visit them with me. The catacombs that had interested me most, I reserved till the last. Marian and I had a fancy for slipping away from those we traveled with and going sightseeing together. One morning we took a carriage, drove out on the Appian way and stopped at the entrance of those subterranean passages I had long wished to explore.

We were in time to join a party about to descend, were each given a wax taper, and a monk in a white cowl, who was to pilot us, led us down a stone staircase at the bottom of which were the catacombs.

We followed the taper light procession for awhile, but finally at the time I would not tell how it happened, but now I am an old married man I will admit that I was never happy for half an hour at a time without a kiss from my Marian, and I led her away from the others for the purpose of taking one. As soon as this object had been accomplished we started on after the others. Immediately we came to a split in the passage, and the party had gone so far that we could not tell which of the two avenues they had taken. Making choice of the left hand passage, we ran as fast as we could, only to find new splits and turns and corners, but not the party. We were lost.

People have been lost before in these underground burial places and have narrated their experiences. In our case there is something different from any of them. I had a box of matches in my pocket that I carried for cigar lighters. We also had two tapers. As soon as I realized that we were lost I put out both the tapers, and, being in a small open space where was a Christian's skeleton in a sarcophagus, we sat down on the latter to think.

What would be the result of our thus being lost underground? We would not be missed by the party we had joined, for we knew not one of them. Parties were going through the catacombs every day, but would they happen to come our way? Besides, we might starve before we were discovered. There was nothing whatever for us to subsist on. We might try to find our way out, but there were many miles of these subterranean passages and we were liable to wander farther from the entrance. The result of our deliberations was to remain where we were.

I will pass over some twenty hours of our captivity without attempting to describe our feelings. The most hopeless part of it was that our friends did not know where we were. We passed most of the time in the dark, for I wished to save our tapers and matches for any opportunity that might occur. While sitting on the sarcophagus something ran on my foot. I scratched a match, and its flame revealed the two glistening eyes of a rat.

I at once lighted a taper, and while Marian held it I tried to catch the rat. If he would serve no other purpose we might need to eat him. I didn't have much trouble getting my hands on him. I think he knew we were lost there and was willing to help us out. Then an idea occurred to me. Scribbling a note on a letter I had in my pocket, stating that we were lost in the catacombs, I held the rat while Marian tied the note with a strip torn from her handkerchief around the little fellow's neck. Then we put him down. He gave us the most knowing look in the world and ran away.

Half an hour later I felt the rat running over my feet. I lit a taper and saw that he was without either the note or the strip by which it had been fastened to him. This gave us hope that it had been removed by a human being. Ten minutes later I heard a halloo. I replied, and after a number of calls we could see the dim light of tapers, then a party coming to search for us. They had received the message, but had not missed us when the party we had started with returned.

We brought the rat out with us. He sleeps at night in a cage and by day goes where he likes.
